of a Temporary Population Will Cause.

Pargo, N. D., April 11.-The final curtain regime of North Dakota. Hundreds of divorces are safely behind it. Some have made their entrance within the State by so narrow a margin that their legs still protrude from beneath the curtain, and scores have been shut out. The closing days of the divorce regime have been characterized by a rush of divorce emigrees across the country to be in inder the ninety days provisions of the old law, and the divorce colonies at Pargo. Grand Forks, Bismarck and Jamestown have received hurried additions from East

The old law became practically void on April 1, and the flood tide of the emigration Emigrees still come, but theirs is bootless chase. By July 1 the last suits for divorce under the old law, which Dako-

A men from New Jersey tarried in Moorehead at the eleventh hour and waxed convivial in the saloons of what is known as "Jug Annex" of Fargo. The tolling of the bell at midnight brought him to a recollection of his purposes in North Dakota courts and in a wild aprint scross the bridge he left Minnesota soil and landed in Dakota as the law went into effect.

The colony at Fargo numbers about 150, Decrees are being issued at the rate of three z day. The colony at Mandan, across the river from Bismarck, is nearly as large. Divorcees also have flocked to Grand Forks and Jamestown.

The Lamoure amendment, which became "The altorneys may talk about divorce cases being only incidents to their practice," said L. Guthrie, of Grand Forks, known as the founder of Guthrie, Ckla., and as one of the most successful divorce attorneys in North Dakota, "but it was a case where the incidents were a deal more than their other practice. The Roman Catholic element, led by Bishop John Shanley, and the women of the State, marshaled by the W. C. T. U., destroyed the divorce business. Bishop Shanley entered the fight for the amendment two years ago, when it passed the house and was defeated in the senate by one vote. He had the French Canadians and Roman Catholic people behind him.

A DELIBERATE WIFE MURDER. The Perpetrator Ready to Hang for

His Offence. St. Louis, April 11.-Frank Callaway entered the department store of Sieze!-Hilman & Co., at Broadway and Washington Avenue, at 7 o'clock last evening and said he wanted to see some caps. Stepping into the elevator, he ascended to the fifth floor, where he met his wife, a saleswoman. He attempted to start a conversation with her, but she was evidently apprehensive and turned to leave him. Before she could do so he grabbed her by the shoulder with to so he granded her by the shoulder with his left hand, took out his revolver, and commenced firing. The first shot brought his victim to the floor. He fired four more bullets into the prostrate form and then handed the pistol to a floorwalker. Mrs. Callaway's death was instantaneous. As he surrendered his revolver the murderer said:

"This woman is my wife. She recently left my house and has done such things as to bring me into disrepute. I could stand it no longer. The deed is done. I am ready to be hung for it."

ready to be hung for it."

The shooting caused a panic in the big store. Customers and saleswomen fled shrieking through the building those on the lower floors believing that a maniac was running amuck in the upper stories. This brought in people from the street who added materially to the excitement. Two policenae hurried to the scene and placed the murderer under arrest. When asked why he had killed his wife Callaway said: "I am as low as a man can get and she
